Kissinger Will Be Policy Coordinator

© New York Times Service

Washington — Henry A. Kissinger, presidential aide for national security affairs, is assuming the responsibility for coordinating foreign policy planning in the Nixon administration, a mandate formerly assigned to the secretary of state.

The reorganization of foreign policy machinery involving all government agencies with overseas activities is to be announced in an official government circular next week.

Professional diplomats consulted on the plan were apprehensive that it marked a further diminution of the State Department's authority in foreign affairs.

Nixon, Rogers Friends

Their fears are organizational more than personal. The close friendship and long association between President Nixon and Secretary of State William P. Rogers virtually guarantees Rogers a powerful voice in policy planning.

The planned reorganization will have the effect of countermanding an order by President Johnson of March 1966, which ordered the secretary of state to assume responsibility for the full extent permitted by law for the overall direction, coordination and supervision of interdepartmental activities of the United States government overseas.

The committees and interdepartmental groups set up under this order are to be renamed and switched over to the organization of the National Security Council at the White House.

Primarily, there are to be a series of subcommittees under the council, each to elaborate policy recommendations for geographic areas of the world.

Chairmen From State

The chairman of each subcommittee will be assistant secretary of state heading the department's bureau for each region. Other members will be counterpart representatives from the Defense Department, the U.S. Information Agency, the Agency for International Development, the Central Intelligence Agency and any other government agencies involved in relevant activities.

These subcommittees will prepare policy papers, setting forth options on specific issues to come before the full National Security Council, such as whether the U.S. should open missile disarmament talks with the Soviet Union, or how the U.S. should reply to French President de Gaulle's proposal for four-power meetings on the Middle East.

It will then be up to Kissinger and his staff, many of whom have been recruited from the State Department and Pentagon, to review the papers and propose changes or further elucidations.

Kissinger, rather than Rogers, will present the options at meetings of the council, which brings together the heads of each department.

SENTINEL FOES SPEAK

ABM Delay, Study Asked

. . . DEBATE RENEWED

Washington (UPI) — Senate foes of the controversial Sentinel antiballistic missile system urged the Nixon administration Tuesday to postpone its construction pending a thorough review of cost, safety and diplomatic factors.

They warned that the United States was embarking on one of the most complex, costly and dangerous weapons systems in history without adequate assurance that it would work. They argued that deployment of the "thin" ABM system at this time might spoil chances for arms control talks with the Soviet Union and escalate the arms race.

Partially Result Of Protests

Renewal of debate on the Sentinel was partly the result of protests in Boston, Chicago and other urban areas where the Defense Department is now buying land for location of the system's nuclear-tipped defense missiles — the Spartan and Sprint — and radar equipment.

The Sentinel is designed primarily to defend against a possible Communist Chinese nuclear attack within the next decade.

The Spartan missile is to meet incoming missiles above the atmosphere at ranges of up to 400 miles, if necessary. Any missiles not destroyed in this way would be attacked by the faster, shorter-ranged Sprint. Both of the solid-fuel attack missiles would be directed toward the incoming warheads by a complex system of radars.

Kennedy Fears Destruction

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said an accidental explosion in a Spartan silo "would cause total devastation in an area five miles in diameter and serious destruction over a far greater area."

He said there was no reason the Spartans should not be located in lightly populated areas, as are offensive missiles.

Others urging President Nixon to suspend construction were Sens. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

Several senators, notably Cooper, promised a fight to try to block a Johnson administration request in the 1969-70 budget for $700 million in appropriations for further deployment of the limited system at 16 sites around the country. Nixon may amend the request.

Bargaining Point

Criticism of the Sentinel apparently was prompted by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird's suggestion last week that it should be deployed as a bargaining point in any disarmament talks with the Soviet Union.

On this point, Kennedy said he saw no advantage in having a system with "virtually no impact on their offensive missile capability."

Referring to the ABM, Laird said that if the talks are held, "I do not want to be in a position where we go into those talks . . . with one hand tied behind our back. I think it is most important, as we go into those talks, to have defensive as well as offensive missile systems up for discussion, and debate and negotiations."

Cost Could Spiral

Cooper, a leader of Senate ABM foes, said in a prepared speech that the limited Sentinel system might be only the start for a more expensive antimissile complex.

MOON ORBITER MEETS THE QUEEN

flew Apollo 8 around the moon. For Mrs. Borman, meeting the British monarch was the high spot of her family's three-day visit to London. It was "the most exciting moment of my life — except for my husband's moon flight, of course."

Newest State Senator Gives Open Housing Top Priority

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's newest state senator places open housing legislation at the head of his list of priorities for the 1969 Legislature.

Sen. Wayne Schreurs, 40, of Seward, who was appointed by Gov. Norbert Tiemann to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Stanley Matzke, completed his 12th day as a senator Tuesday.

Now on leave as a high school teacher at Seward, Schreurs plans to resume his teaching career in the fall — and seek election to a four-year legislative term in 1970.

In fact, Schreurs said, he was planning to seek election to the Legislature in 1970 in any event.

Open housing legislation is "very important," the senator said. "I think, from a moral standpoint, it is needed. And I think we should take the initiative on the state level."

Federal legislation has already been enacted, he noted.

Schreurs also points to state financing as a major priority item facing the Unicameral.

A Mistake

"I think it was a mistake to drop to the 2% sales tax rate," Schreurs said. Taking note of the appropriations bills now pending, he said he will "not be a bit surprised" if the rate has to be boosted back to 2½% this session.

"I don't know how we are going to finance the needs unless we go back to 2½% or some other figure," the senator noted.

Schreurs is also specifically interested in governmental reorganization proposals emerging from Tiemann's Little Hoover Commission, including the transformation of some elective offices into appointive positions.

Reflect On Him

The governor would appoint qualified officeholders, the senator pointed out, because their performance would reflect on him.

It would be best, Schreurs said, to "give the governor more responsibility in running state agencies."

Schreurs, an ordained minister, began teaching at Seward High School in 1966.

His course of instruction seems uniquely tailored to his new legislative career. Schreurs teaches American government, modern problems and psychology.

Senate Passes Pay Raise Bill

Washington (UPI) — The Senate ignored dire warnings it was voting for inflation and approved a 41% pay raise for Congress Tuesday after Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield demanded: "Are we going to be mice or men?"

Senators rejected 47-34 a resolution offered by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., to kill the proposal to raise the annual salaries of members of Congress from $30,000 to $42,500.

It appeared highly unlikely that the House would even vote on the pay package before Congress recesses Friday for a Lincoln's birthday holiday. Without either chamber vetoing the proposal, it goes into effect automatically on Feb. 14.

The measure, which also would increase the pay of federal judges and Cabinet officers, was proposed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson and supported by President Nixon and the congressional leadership of both parties.

Williams, who was successful in forcing a record vote on whether to accept the pay raise, argued that the increase would lead to a $4.5 billion boost in total federal payrolls, figuring Congress could not logically reject pay raises for civil service employees. The present package costs an estimated $22 million.

This, Williams said, "may very well trigger another round of inflation and one which the American dollar might not be able to survive."

Committee Advances Bill To Lower Age Of 'Adult'

The Unicameral's Judiciary Committee, after being told present laws "coddle" young people, Tuesday approved and sent to the floor of the Legislature a bill to lower the age of accountability to 19.

The bill, introduced by State Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, originally called for lowering of the age at which a minor becomes an adult to 20 from the present 21.

The committee, on a 6-1 vote with one abstention, adopted the amendment to change the age in the bill from 20 to 19. The amendment was proposed by Dave Pfister of Minden, who headed the Nebraskans for Young Adult Suffrage in the last election.

The bill was approved on a 6-1 vote also.

A second amendment to lower the age to 18 was proposed to the committee by Robert Barnett, counsel to Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, but was not acted on by the committee.

"Too often we've become too protective of young people," Pfister told the committee. "They should be held responsible for the actions they take."

Committee Chairman Fred W. Carstens of Beatrice asked Barnett if the governor realized the bill "opens them up to loan sharks, pots and pans salesmen and others who might take advantage of them."

Barnett said the governor did, and that he had confidence the younger persons could handle such salesmen as well as older persons, "some of whom have trouble also."

The committee also reported out, on an 8-0 vote, a bill to establish a state claims board. The proposed board would administer tort claims against the state for property damage or personal injury caused by its employees.

The bill and a companion measure establishing a similar procedure for local governments were developed by a legislative interim study committee headed by State Sen. Roland A. Luedtke of Lincoln.

The companion bill was held by the committee for amendment.

Teachers Seek Average Pay Raise Of $2,200

. . . LEA AND BOARD OF EDUCATION OPEN CONTRACT NEGOTIATIONS

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln teachers and staff asked the Board of Education Tuesday night for a total of $5,275,506 in estimated salary increases and additional fringe benefits, including an average pay raise of about $2,200 per classroom instructor.

The Lincoln Education Association called for a base salary of $7,000 for beginning teachers with 4 increments according to years of service. Each nine hours of graduate college work also would merit more money annually, under the LEA plan.

The school board presented a counter salary proposal, designed with the LEA base of $7,000, that would classify teachers at five salary levels according to years of experience, responsibility and length of service during a school year. M. A. and Ph.D. degree teachers would receive extra pay in each category.

More Meetings Set

The proposals, explanations and questions for clarification came at the first meeting of the LEA-school board negotiation process. At the next two meetings, items of disagreement are scheduled to be identified and actual negotiations will occur.

LEA president J. Richard Nagele rated the salary requests as having the highest priority. He said the group had established no priorities for its other requests ranging from a recommendation to revise the size and print of the public schools directory to paying 100% of all employees' health insurance policies.

Board members proposed to the LEA that the local pension plan be phased out by covering no new employees although commitments to present employees would be kept and that the district discontinue subsidizing LEA, Nebraska State Education Association and National Education Association activities with tax funds.

Associate Supt. Dr. Robert Den Hartog estimated that the total of the LEA requests would cost the district $5,275,406 more than the 1968-69 budget. The total general fund budget for the current year is $18,499,222.

He reported later that the district's budget for 1969-70 could increase only $1,885,517 in order for Lincoln to stay within the 108% limitation on per pupil cost increases under the state school aid law.

LEA spokesmen told the board that a good salary schedule should have a beginning salary attractive to capable young people, provide increments sufficient to double the bachelor's degree minimum within 10 years, recognize advanced education and permit no discrimination in grade of subject taught, sex, marital status or number of dependents.

$9,870 Maximum

According to the LEA plan, B.A. teachers' salaries would range from $7,000 to a maximum of $9,870. Teachers would receive 4% more on each step for nine hours graduate work, 9% more for 18 hours and 14% more for 27 hours.

M.A. degree teachers' salaries would range from $8,400 to a maximum of $12,600. Ph.D. degree teachers' salaries would range from $9,800 to $14,980. Graduate hours beyond the M.A. degree also would be recognized with a proportionately higher salary, under the proposal.

Percentage increases ranged from only 9% for teachers on the maximum B.A. level with no graduate hours to as high as 45% for M.A. degree teachers with 36 hours or a six-year certificate.

Based On Maximum

Holmes principal Bernard Nutt told the board that the proposal for elementary principals was based on the maximum teacher salary according to an individual's graduate training, although the committee did not know what had been established as the basic schedule.

According to the proposal, elementary principals' salaries would range from $16,186 to $23,343, taking into account individual experience, merit range, size of school, responsibility and additional time.

Based on the same factors, secondary principals' salaries would range from $22,105 to $32,391, and junior high principals' salaries would range from $18,270 and $25,705.

The P.S.A.B. staff requested increases averaging 12%, reported spokesman Gene Stoll.

Increases

Den Hartog estimated that increased salaries would total $2,832,585 for classroom teachers, $296,221 for elementary administrators, $215,800 for secondary administrators and $90,000 for the P.S.A.B. staff.

Board president Dr. John Lux, who had proposed a similar organizational plan two years ago, explained the board's schedule that would classify teachers as probationary, tenure, and experienced tenure on nine-month contracts. Career and staff teachers would be placed on a 12-month contract.

Under the board plan, probationary teachers would start at $7,000 and stay at that level for three years, receive $8,000 when they became tenure teachers and jump to $9,200 after another four years.

Based On Quality

Teachers would be assigned to the limited number of career and staff teacher positions on the basis of quality. Career teachers would be paid $12,400 and staff teachers, $14,000. Higher salaries would be paid in each position for M.A. and Ph.D. degrees.

Some 150 persons in the audience asked numerous questions about the proposal, pointing out that proposed schedule indicates a career teacher would receive only about $10 more than an experienced tenure teacher.

Lux declared that "sooner or later we have to make this breakthrough to recognize (Continued on Page 3, Col. 1.)

Some Common Ground Emerges In Paris Talks

New York Times Service

Paris — A United States official said Tuesday some common ground had emerged in the broadened peace talks on Vietnam.

He also indicated that the allies were flexible on priorities in further negotiations.

The source, a member of the U.S. delegation in Paris, did not exclude the possibility that political issues might arise early in the talks. However, he stressed that it was primarily up to Saigon to deal with political problems.

Military Problems

The U.S. and South Vietnamese representatives had proposed at the opening of the substantive talks last month to start discussing some of the military problems in Vietnam, the U.S. official explained, because those issues

DMZ Not Threat Now

Saigon (P) — North Vietnamese strength inside the demilitarized zone stands at 1,500 to 3,000, military sources said Tuesday.

Field commanders see no immediate threat to allied forces just south of the zone. But they say the North Vietnamese are funneling men and supplies through the zone into Laos and down the Ho Chi Minh Trail to South Vietnam.

A senior Marine officer said he doubted that the North Vietnamese army would make any more thrusts through the coastal lowlands of the zone dividing Vietnam. The enemy would be highly vulnerable in the flats.

Any push through the zone also would appear politically unwise since the United States at the Paris peace talks has been asking for the North Vietnamese to restore the zone to its former demilitarized status, the officer added.

Taking no chances, however, the Marines and an Army land-clearing unit are skimming the lowlands below Con Thien and Gio Linh. Trees are being cut away and swaths 150 yards wide are being opened with bulldozers.

Thrusts through the western zone at the "Rockpile" and the Khe Sanh basin could be met and fought far from any important objectives, making those routes undesirable, commanders feel.

In other war developments, a South Vietnamese unit reported finding 200 enemy bodies sprawled over a shattered bunker complex in the central highland jungle 240 miles north of Saigon.

The bodies were decayed. Initial reports indicated the enemy soldiers were killed by B52 Stratofortresses. The appeared to lend themselves readily to early negotiation and settlement.

Agreements on such concrete matters could create a favorable climate for tackling other issues, including political ones, the source suggested.

He recalled that the Communist side had formally rejected the first allied proposals Jan. 30.

Covered Same Ground

However, he noted that the speakers for Hanoi and the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam, or Viet Cong, had covered the same ground as the allies, if only to contradict them.

In the first plenary meeting of the broadened talks on Jan. 25, the chief U.S. negotiator, Henry Cabot Lodge, acting also on South Vietnam's behalf, proposed the restoration of the proper status of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam, a guaranteed mutual withdrawal of troops from South Vietnam, and an early exchange of prisoners.

The proposals were restated at the second session and turned down by the Communist side.

Problems 'Indivisible'

The delegates for North Vietnam and the National Liberation Front have insisted in the round-table meetings that the military problems in Vietnam were "indivisible" from the political ones. The Communist representatives seemed opposed to any step aimed at a reduction of fighting unless their political demands were met.

The establishment of a "peace cabinet" in Saigon, favorable to the Viet Cong, appears to be a prime objective for the Communist side at this stage. The allies, and especially the Saigon government, contend that such a pro-Communist government would soon be supplanted by an all-Communist regime.

However, the U.S. source did not rule out discussion of political issues at an early stage in the talks.

Mrs. Sirhan Says Income Under $1,800

Los Angeles (P) — The tiny gray-haired mother of the man charged with murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy testified Tuesday that as a housekeeper she never earned more than $1,800 a year for her immigrant family, then added softly:

"I thank God that He gave me the strength and I thank you nice people also that I never got hungry and have a roof over my head."

Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, and his 55-year-old mother, Mary, both testified briefly in support of a defense motion to quash the grand jury murder indictment against him on grounds makeup of the jury is unbalanced.

Motion Denied

The judge denied the motion in a one-minute afternoon court session.

Said Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker: "The motion will be denied on two grounds. I do not believe it is relevant to these proceedings, and secondly as to merits."

Court was adjourned until Wednesday when the jury will be sworn in and selection of six alternate jurors begun.

Sirhan Clear

Sirhan, poised and speaking clearly but with a touch of accent of his native Jordan, testified tersely in confirming his own income figures: 1965, $984.90; 1966, $2,212.46; 1967, $432.96; 1968, $752.35.

The money, he said, came from jobs at a drive-in, a motor service firm, a ranch, a construction firm and a food store.

testimony that the grand jury was mostly made up of people in professional sales or managerial jobs, with college educations, and had no members under 30 or poor.

Mrs. Sirhan, who has been in court almost daily since her son went on trial charged with murder in the gunshot slaying of Kennedy last June, provided the surprise with her "thank you" remarks.

She said during a recess she had not planned the speech, but that "it was the way I feel. I thank God . . . I'm so glad I can make a home for my children." She said she meant the speech to be a "thank you to the United States."

The Sirhan family, including the father, came to this country from Palestine in 1957 but the father returned. Mrs. Sirhan, four sons and a daughter who since has died eventually settled in nearby Pasadena.

Nixon Consults Johnson; Mideast Decisions Due

Washington (P) — President Nixon came to the point Tuesday of making crucial decisions on the administration course in the Mideast crisis following consultations with Lyndon B. Johnson and the government's top men in the diplomatic, military and intelligence spheres.

One result may be a reply to the proposal of President Charles de Gaulle of France for a Big Four session on the task of restoring peace between the Arabs and the Israelis.

Just when and how the specific decisions might be made known remained in question.

Decisions To Be 'Apparent'

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters while Nixon was meeting with the National Security Council that "the President will make some decisions on the Middle East following today's meeting. They will become apparent in time."

He said no plans have been made for announcing them. But he did say a reply to de Gaulle is being processed. There has been somewhat broad speculation that Nixon will agree to the French bid for a conference with the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union on the Mideast.

In addition to covering the crisis at the far end of the Mediterranean in the NSC meeting, Ziegler said Nixon put in a telephone call to Texas Monday night and talked with his predecessor, Johnson, about 15 minutes. He said the purpose was to brief Johnson on the latest foreign policy developments, particularly relating to the Mideast and to obtaining Senate ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Nixon is expected to ask the Senate in the next day or two to do for him what it did not do for Johnson — ratify the treaty designed to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

Five Sworn In

The new chairman and the other two members of the President's Council of Economic Advisers were sworn into office at the White House with Nixon looking on. And a former chairman of the council, Arthur F. Burns, who served in the Eisenhower administration was sworn in as White House counselor.

The new economic council is made up of Chairman Paul W. McCracken, Hendrik S. Houthakker, born in Amsterdam and a naturalized American citizen, and Herbert Stein.

The oath of office also was administered to retired Brig. Gen. George A. Lincoln, who will direct the Office of Emergency Planning.

Nixon announced he is nominating Martin J. Hillenbrand, a 30-year career veteran of the State Department's foreign service and now ambassador to Hungary, to be assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

Increased Generating Capacity Plans Outlined

... For Five Dams Along Missouri River

Denver, Colo. (AP) — The U.S. Corps of Army Engineers estimates that the addition of more generators in five of the main stream dams on the Missouri River could produce more than a million kilowatts of additional generating capacity on the river.

C. R. Bicket of Omaha, assistant chief of the corps' reservoir control center, announced the figure at a meeting Tuesday of the Missouri Basin Systems Group.

Bicket said a preliminary study of the additional capacity was made by Col. O.

H. Robinson, deputy division engineer.

The creation of a new power supply agency to "integrate and market" power from the Missouri River dams and consumer-operated generating plants was urged at the meeting.

Robert O. Marritz, executive director and staff counsel of the MBSG, outlined plans for such an agency in his annual report. Marritz said the plans will be "vigorously pursued" with the Nixon administration.

Bicket stressed that the findings of Col. Robinson's study should be regarded only as potential since all it has determined is that such additions are "practical from an engineering standpoint." He said no economic studies have been made.

Bicket said potential generation units could be added under this proposed program:

Fort Peck — 160,000 kilowatts by using two flood control outlets.

Garrison Dam — 240,000 kilowatts by using three flood control outlets

Oahe Dam — 180,000 kilowatts by using three of six flood control outlets.

Fort Randall — 240,000 kilowatts by using four flood control outlets.

Big Bend Dam — 350,000 kilowatts by adding about six new generators.

Teachers Seek Hikes

outstanding teachers and consider teachers important enough to have on a 12-month contract."

Supt. John Prasch estimated the board proposal would cost the district a maximum of $1.3 million next year.

The board also said that under the present salary schedule format, it would propose an adjustment of $200 and add one more step which would provide individual increases ranging from 8.3% to 4.6%.

The LEA request that funding of the health insurance program be increased to 100% for each teacher and his family and 100% funding of a $5,000 group life insurance policy for employees would cost the district an additional $300,000, it was agreed.

Question Proposal

Board members questioned whether the proposal would be discriminatory against single persons in that a family health insurance policy would cost the district $22.18 per month and a single policy only $7.79.

LEA executive secretary Ely Feistner said that the current procedure of paying a fixed amount per policy is now discriminatory against families in which both spouses are employed by the school system. However, no request was made to change that procedure.

Limitations on "regular" class size to 25 at the elementary level and 30 at the secondary level "wherever feasible under the circumstances" was proposed by the LEA for next year.

Add Teacher Aides

Within five years, the district should have a certain number of teacher aides in each school to take care of such non-teaching duties as playground and lunch duty, study hall proctoring, clerical duties, bulletin boards, lavatory periods and helping little children with clothing, it was recommended.

Adding 96 additional staff persons to reduce the class size as proposed would cost $739,200 and adding the proposed number of teacher aides would cost $375,000, according to board estimates. Putting an elementary counselor in each school as suggested would cost $234,000.

Other LEA requests included:

—Increased retirement benefits, including coverage for all persons who were fulltime employees prior to the March 15, 1963 effective date. LEA also asked that employees be allowed to continue work after age 65 contingent upon a physical exam and the "individual's productivity."

—Severance pay at retirement in the amount of one-half the current daily rate of pay multiplied by the number of days accumulated sick leave.

Den Hartog estimated that the proposal would cost the district $40,000 next year but would accelerate to larger costs as the number of retirees increases.

—Unlimited accumulation of sick leave. The current limit is 180 days.

—Make required physical examinations at the expense of the school district.

—Permit religious holidays to qualify a staff member for emergency leave.

—Change the school calendar so that the first day of school for pupils is the Thursday preceding Labor Day. The LEA asked that the 187-day contract year be continued. A board proposal would increase the year to 190 days.

—In-service training for teachers monthly in their subject matter field.

—Assign the LEA president to half-day duties so that the other half may be used for professional activities at his discretion. The board proposed that the president be given a year's leave of absence with the LEA paying his salary. Board members also suggested that teachers no longer be paid for the two days of teachers convention nor time off for other association activities.

—Allow released time from the school day curriculum development.

—Expand the scope of negotiable items for next year.

Woman, 75, In Wheel Chair Cited For Saving Baby's Life

Hastings (AP) — A 75-year-old Omaha grandmother confined to a wheel chair is to be honored as a Nebraska hero for breathing life into a six-month-old child.

She is Mrs. Arthur F. Leahy Sr., of Omaha, who has reared 12 children of her own.

Robert Metcalf of Lincoln, president of the Nebraska Funeral Directors Association, said Mrs. Leahy will be honored along with other Nebraskans at a banquet in Lincoln in April with the "Heroes Award."

The incident occurred Jan. 16 when six-month-old

Gregory Scott Pope began crying for his bottle. When Mrs. Pope went to his crib he noticed he was no longer breathing. She attempted mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and when this failed then ran with the child to Mrs. Leahy's home next door.

Mrs. Leahy also attempted resuscitation, but when it failed to work she hit the child twice over the heart. "Just taps," she recalled. "That must have helped. Perhaps it dislodged some phlegm in his throat. Anyway, Gregory started breathing and he was doing pretty well when the rescue squad arrived."

Accident Fatal To Elderly Woman

One of three elderly Lincoln women involved in a two-car collision at 48th and South Sts. was killed Tuesday when she was thrown from the vehicle.

The victim, Ina Bosse, 89, of Gateway Manor, was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Winifred Arnold, 87, also a resident at the retirement home, police said.

The Arnold vehicle was eastbound on South St. when it collided with a northbound car driven by Mrs. Pearl Pettit, 80, a resident of Clark Jeary Memorial Manor, 1313 Eldon Dr., according to police.

Both drivers were taken to Bryan Memorial Hospital where they were reported in "fair" condition.

Police said Mrs. Arnold suffered multiple fractures and a severe head laceration in the accident.

Both occupants of the Arnold vehicle were thrown from the auto when the collision occurred and the car went over a curb and smashed into a tree at the northeast corner of the intersection, Investigating officers said.

The Pettit vehicle came to rest against a curb east of the intersection.

One of the persons at the scene of the accident, Sister Phyllis of Madonna Home, administered artificial respiration to Mrs. Bosse before officials arrived.

Services for Mrs. Bosse will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Roper and Sons' Chapel, 4300 O.

Mrs. Bosse was born in Oakland and had resided in Lincoln for the past 25 years. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include sons, Jack, Eugene, Ore., Bill, Ridgewood, N.J.; daughters, Mrs. Giles (Delores) Henkle, Lincoln; sisters: Mrs. Dorothy Kobrock, Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Henrietta Ganzel, Long Beach, Calif.; brothers, Emil Uehling, Lincoln, Fred Uehling, Laguna Hills, Calif. five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Two Brothers Bound Over In Co-Op Holdup

David City (AP) — Two brothers from Columbus were bound over to District Court for trial after a two-hour preliminary hearing in Butler County stemming from the Jan. 21 holdup of the Bellwood Co-op Credit Association of $976.

The pair were taken into custody about 13 miles away some 35 minutes after one man confronted Credit Association manager C. W. Sorensen with a gun, took the money and attempted unsuccessfully to lock Sorensen in the vault.

The two charged are Marshall Mikkelsen, 25, and Don Mikkelsen, 28.

In handing them over for trial, County Judge J. C. Hranac continued Marshall Mikkelsen's bond at $15,000 but reduced his brother's bond to $5,000.

Two Men Found In Overturned Truck

Champion (AP) — Two Ogallala men died when their truck plunged off a county road and overturned in an ice covered pothole beside Frenchman Creek, Chase County Sheriff Bill Jaeger reported Tuesday.

Sheriff Jaeger identified the men as James Putman, 66, and Oswald Graham, 69. He said Putman was the owner of a well drilling outfit which was working in the Champion area.

He said it was not immediately determined what caused the accident or how the men died, but he was listing it as a traffic accident pending completion of his investigation.

Jaeger said Rollie Arterburn, a farmer, saw the overturned truck in the water and reported the accident late Monday. The truck left the highway about 4 1/4 miles northwest of Champion, and plunged down a steep embankment and through the ice.

Pair Selected To Attend Junior Poultry Meeting

Two Nebraska 4-H members have been selected for expense-paid trips to the Junior Poultry and Egg Fact Finding Conference, which opens February 13 at the Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, Mo.

Certified by the state 4-H office at the University of Nebraska to receive trips provided by the Campbell Soup Co. of Omaha are Sally Kloepping, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kloepping of Lexington, and Marvin Vogler, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vogler of Louisville.

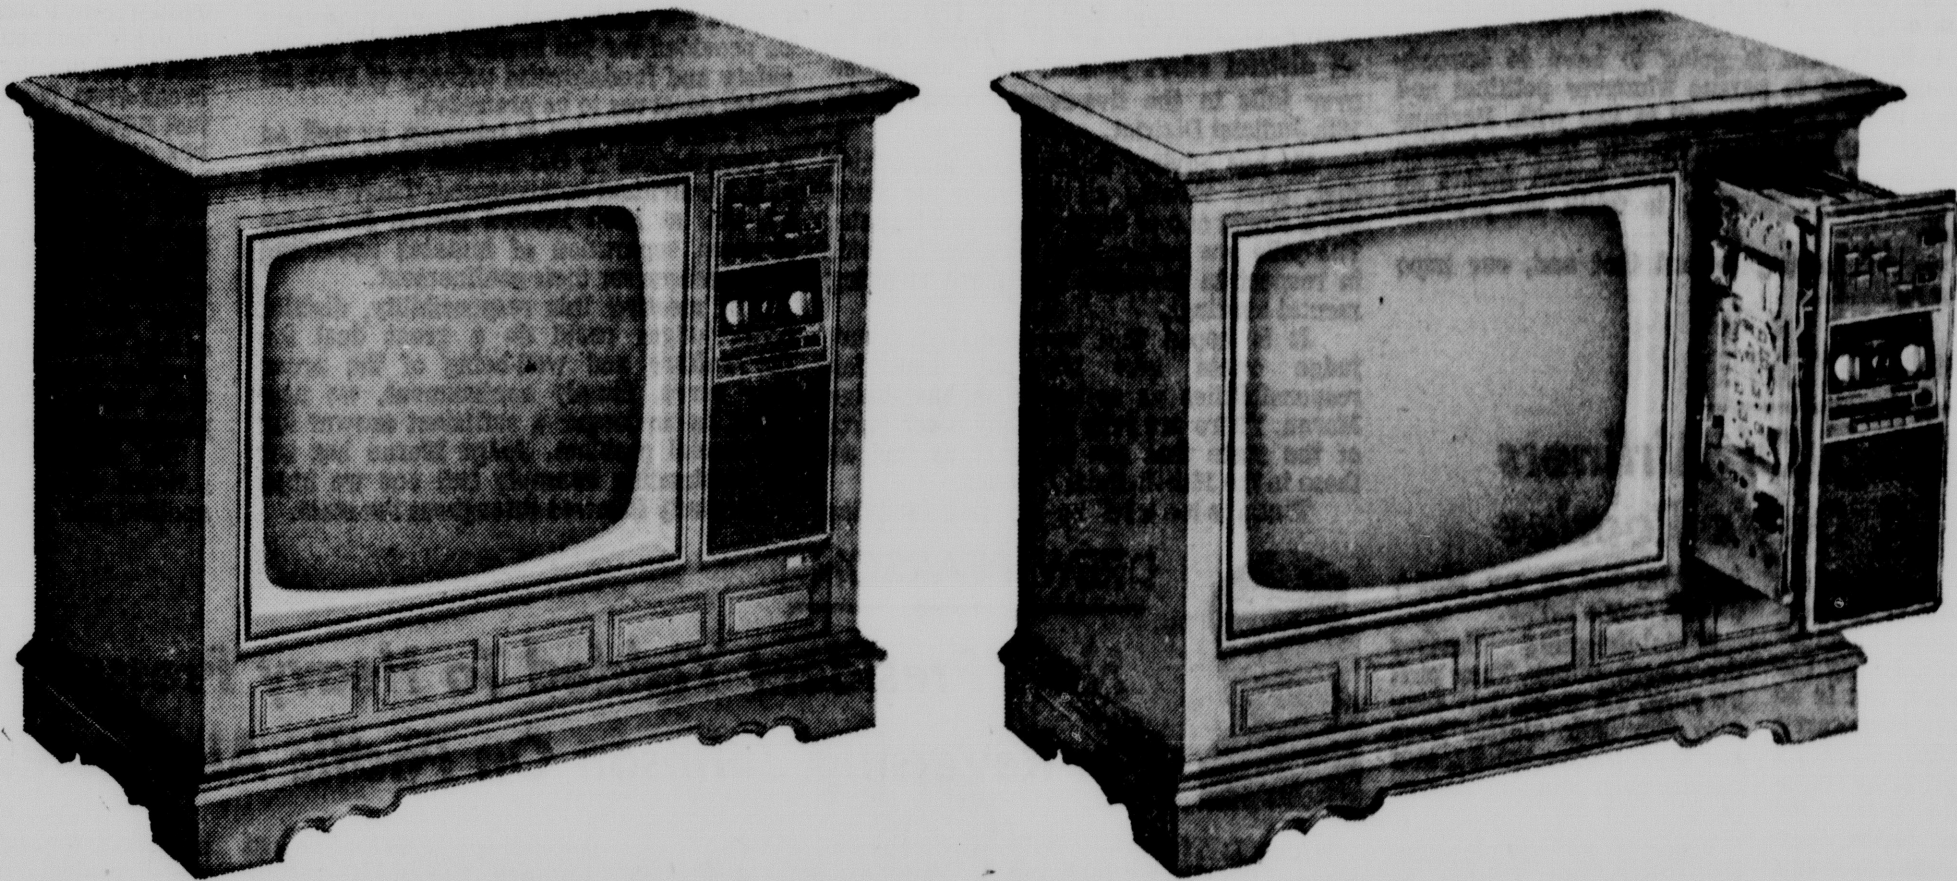

The conference is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service; Vocational Agriculture Branch of the U.S. Office of Education; National 4-H Service Committee, and the Institute of American Poultry Industries.

The two Nebraska 4-H'ers were selected as delegates on the basis of accomplishments in 4-H poultry projects.

EVENTS
IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER
It has been a fast-moving period from January 20, the day of President Nixon's inauguration, even though we still are at the starting gate. Internationally, the wheels are beginning to move and hopes are high that progress toward peace might become a reality.

The new President was successful even under circumstances in which men in the past have found only failure. Nixon spoke off the cuff in his press conference last week of a military "sufficiency" in place of a "superiority."

The switch has been widely hailed as a substantial success. When a president or other high government officer says something like that off the top of his head, it is usually something he later lives to regret.

But it is obvious that a policy of sufficiency is much more palatable to other nations of the world while still adequate for the welfare and safety of our own nation. A policy of superiority contains a threat and the advent of nuclear energy has just about ended the "big stick" philosophies that have prevailed at times in the past.

Thus, with the change of just one word, Nixon has done much to improve the climate for constructive talks between East and West. Beyond this, other actions are taking place.

Administration sources have indicated that the U.S. will endeavor to establish better contacts with Red China. This is nothing that is going to happen very quick but it is again obvious that our attitude toward China in the past has produced nothing by way of peace.

Also, Nixon has announced that he may be meeting very soon now with the heads of state from Russia, England and France in an effort to solve the Middle East crisis. Additionally, he apparently intends an early meeting with North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) members.

In every action contemplated, a dead end could await us. Red China might well condemn any and all overtures that we make and the Russians might set the price for peace so high that we could not afford to take part in the deal.

But it is very true that if nothing is ventured, nothing can be gained. One senses with the Nixon administration a deep desire to explore every avenue toward peace and to re-examine the hostilities that have long divided the world.

Recent evidence surely suggests that the Soviet Union wants a strong influence in the Mediterranean but it seems improper to assume from that that peace in the Middle East cannot be attained.

It is more practical to recognize that such an influence can and will be exerted by the Soviet Union and to make the best deal possible from that point forward. If we cannot avoid that influence — and we can't — we are better off living at peace with it than fighting another senseless war over it.

The question, of course, is how much influence the Russians want and how willing they are to recognize the interests of others. For the U.S. to grant the validity of the Soviet presence does not destroy our own identity.

The point is that we must, some day, learn to live together and have not seemed in the past to have proceeded from that point of reality. We have spoken of the reality but acted little upon it.

Ultimately, every nation is going to have to concede to its neighbors the right to pursue whatever political and economic ideology their people see fit to live with. Perhaps then the nations of the world can revamp their priorities and begin the arduous task of building social orders in which all men have the opportunity to fulfill the promise of their humanity.

If, indeed, we are moving toward that end, our hope and anxiety know no limits.

VIRGINIA PAYETTE
Purloining Of Airliners
All In A Day's Routine

NEW YORK — Hijacking airliners to Cuba is happening so often it's "ho-hum" news these days. Flying the Miami-via-Havana run is so routine the pilots even carry maps of Fidel Castro's airport in their brain bags and check the tower for Havana weather before they take off. They used to laugh a little when they checked — but now it's part of the routine.

The hijackers themselves are getting pretty casual about it all. One group flew "family plan," including a woman and three children on their Cuban detour. They even bought drinks for their captive passengers during the flight.

Almost 50 planes have been hijacked since 1961, and it's getting harder and harder to get people excited about it. The first one, out of El Paso, back on May 1, 1961, was pretty spectacular. Since then, though, things got less tingly with each hijacking.

The most interesting hijacking news nowadays is in the solutions people think up to end it all.

One man suggested playing the Cuban national anthem and arresting anybody who stands up. Another wanted to build a replica of the Havana airport in Florida so hijackers would be fooled into thinking the jet had landed in Cuba.

These are just two of the 500 ideas the Federal Aviation Agency has received so far. Not all are as wild as these, but they do have one thing in common. According to the FAA, none of them will work.

One of the more startling suggestions came from Eddie Rickenbacker, who at one time held the American record for shooting people out of the sky. "Shoot 'em," he says. Not in my plane, please, Cap'n Eddie.

Metal-detecting devices don't work, either. They pick up guns, all right, but they also trip their alarms over car keys, pocket knives, and maybe even shaving cream cans.

There is one simple solution: persuade Castro to send the hijackers back here for trial, with conviction carrying heavy penalties. Perhaps even the death sentence.

But Castro isn't buying. Would you, if the airlines had to pay you up to $10,000 per plane to get it back?

Meanwhile, most air passengers continue to treat the threat of a one-night stand in Havana lightly. Last week a man behind me asked the stewardess if we were on our way to Cuba and she replied: "Oh, I do hope not. It makes such a LONG day."

'We're Being Hijacked! He's Ordered Me To Land Back In Washington, D.C.!'

Retirement Tower Too High

Several City Council members this week indicated they will oppose an amendment to a special permit that will allow construction of a second phase addition to Eastmont Manor, 63rd and O, to a height of eight stories.

A number of factors must have influenced the council's attitude and we tend to side with members of the council who look on the project as worthy, but view with a certain amount of suspicion the history of its development.

In the first place, the developers of the three-phase project had proposed a five-story addition when the council first approved a special permit to construct the retirement home. Now, however, the project consultant says it is necessary to reduce the cubic size of the addition but raise it 30 feet in height because of spiraling building costs.

Secondly, the developers could have gone through with the project using the special permit approach alone but in addition asked for a grant of D multiple zoning on the tract in order, they argued, to secure financing. The council okayed the rezoning request and at the same time approved the special permit with the agreed upon five-story limitation.

Another factor involves a misunderstanding between the council and the developers. According to council members, the number of units constructed in the first phase of development was changed without the knowledge of the city and the units were not placed according to the plot plan.

The most important consideration, though, is the effect the project will have on the surrounding residential neighborhood. There is sufficient land in the Eastmont tract for the wanted number of apartment units to be built without going high-rise. An eight-story tower would overwhelm the surrounding area and adversely affect property values.

Cleaning Up Jails

It was a highly commendable action taken last week by District Judge Robert Moran of Alliance. Judge Moran, as do all district court judges, has jurisdiction over jails in the five-county area of the 16th Judicial District.

He has advised appropriate authorities that, after visiting all the jails, he finds not a single one of them which is adequate. The jails are particularly lacking, he said, in respect to juveniles and those awaiting mental hearings.

It is hoped that every district court judge would take his jail inspection responsibilities as seriously as has Judge Moran. There are jails in many other parts of the state that are at least as bad as those in the 16th Judicial District.

There should be no jail facilities

New President Yielded To Heavy Pressures
In Reversing Johnson On Pacific Air Routes

WASHINGTON — With some of the slickest lobbying in the history of back-stage politics, Pan American Airways not only persuaded President Nixon to cancel the new air routes across the Pacific but conveyed the impression that he was overruling a political decision by his predecessor.

Exactly the opposite was true. Ex-President Johnson scrupulously refused to play politics in awarding the trans-Pacific routes, whereas Nixon's decision was dictated entirely by politics.

Here is the amazing story, carefully documented, of the profits and politics behind the trans-Pacific case: For more than a decade, the Civil Aeronautics Board has sought to provide more competition and better service for air travelers in the Pacific. This has been bitterly resisted by Pan Am, which doesn't want to share its lucrative Pacific business with more competitors. A trans-Pacific air route, it's estimated, is worth $50 million a year.

After exhaustive hearings, the CAB came back to the White House with new recommendations — this time on the eve of President Johnson's retirement. Pan Am's President Najeeb Halaby, LBJ's former federal aviation administrator, immediately began camping in the White House basement.

Day after day, he slipped into the White House through the basement door to lobby with presidential aides. He urged them to hand down a decision keeping rival airlines out of the Pacific or, alternatively, to buck the decision to the Nixon administration.

Halaby also made repeated calls on top officials of the State, Defense and Transportation Departments to enlist their support. Two of the most influential lawyers in Washington, Tommy "The Cork" Corcoran and James Rowe, were also retained by Pan Am to pull strings inside the Johnson administration.

When LBJ decided against Pan Am, the airline began spreading stories that he had jimmied the CAB recommendations for political purposes. This was pure hogwash. Johnson, for example, was closer to American Airlines than to any other carrier. His close friend and secretary of commerce, C. R. Smith, was the former president of American Airlines. Another intimate friend and former aide, Warren Woodward, is a vice president. Two other members of Johnson's inner circle, Horace Busby and Jake Jacobsen, are also on American's payroll.

Yet LBJ overruled a CAB recommendation that American Airlines fly to Japan via Hawaii. He acted upon the unanimous, non-political advice of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford and Secretary of Transportation Alan Boyd that the recommended route would upset delicate relations with Japan. For Japan Air Lines, already in shaky financial condition, couldn't stand the competition.

Another airline with connections inside the Johnson administration was Eastern, which also wanted a trans-Pacific route. Eastern's Washington representative, Craig Raup, had raised campaign funds for Hubert Humphrey and worked hard to elect him president.

Rather than defer the decision to his successor, he also thought he was doing Nixon a favor by deciding the trans-Pacific case and

The Legacy Of 'Thirteen Days'

WASHINGTON — When good men die, their goodness does not perish but lives through they are gone.

That line from Euripides says something about one of the tragedies marking the ill-starred year of 1963. The assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in Los Angeles was a senseless act that left the nation and the world so much the poorer. It threw a lurid light on the undercurrent of violence threatening to destroy the very structure of order and stability.

Kennedy at 43 had acquired his share of critics and enemies. Abrasive, often pugnacious, sometimes so withdrawn as to seem sullen or indifferent, as attorney general for three years he had been a sort of hatchet man for his brother, President John F. Kennedy. His ambition seemed to outrun both his experience and his capacity.

But, whatever his faults may have been, the legacy he has left of courage and wisdom is of incalculable value. An important part of that legacy is the book, "Thirteen Days," which Kennedy completed before his death. More than a memoir, more than simply another piece of history, it is a short, concise primer of how to steer a safe course through a terrible storm that promised from hour to hour to end with nuclear annihilation. The new President could not do better than keep a copy close at hand should there be another nuclear confrontation with the Soviet Union.

"Thirteen Days" is the story of the Cuban missile crisis of October, 1962, told by the member of the Ex Comm group who more than anyone except the President charted the course. Ex Comm was the committee within the National Security Council the members of which worked almost without ceasing through the 13 days and nights to force the Soviet Union to remove the missiles secretly placed in Cuba without precipitating a nuclear holocaust.

Because he was the President's brother, he was naturally closer to him than any of the Ex Comm group. But the contribution he made during those incredibly tense days when the shadow of doom hovered over all mankind was far more than brotherly support. In the debate he argued throughout for a peaceful means, short of an attack on Cuba costing thousands of lives, to compel Premier Nikita Khrushchev to take out the missiles. He contended with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara as an ally for flexibility; for giving Khrushchev a chance to back down without losing face.

The lesson, above all, in "Thirteen Days" is that the military invariably urges military action as a quick and simple remedy. And if their view is not countered by a free and thorough exchange with all the elements involved in a crisis, then this quick and simple remedy is likely to be resorted to.

"The discussion, for the most part, was able and organized," Kennedy wrote, "although, like all the meetings of this kind, certain statements were made as accepted truisms which I, at least, thought were of questionable validity. One member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, for example, argued that we could use nuclear weapons on the basis that our adversaries would use theirs against us in an attack. I thought, as I listened, of the many times that I had heard the military take positions which, if wrong, had the advantage that no one would be around at the end to know."

After five days when the blockade seemed to have only limited effectiveness, the Joint Chiefs of Staff returned to the attack. They recommended an air strike on the next day to be followed up with an invasion, pointing out that they had always argued that a blockade would be far too weak a measure and that direct military action was the only move the Soviet would understand.

"We won't attack tomorrow," the President said. "We shall try again." This was the critical decision at a point when nerves were frayed to the breaking point and when the simple remedy of the military seemed the only way out even though it was certain to bring a reprisal and very probably nuclear war. When a Russian submarine was reported about to challenge the American blockaders with force, Kennedy wrote:

"I think these few minutes were the time of gravest concern for the President. Was the world on the brink of a holocaust . . . His hand went up to his face and covered his mouth. He opened and closed his fist. His face seemed drawn, his eyes pained, almost gray. We stared at each other across the table. For a few fleeting seconds, it was almost as though no one else was there and he was no longer the President."

It might have been. That is so frighteningly clear. It might have been if Robert Kennedy had not argued for patience and delay. That is the legacy putting us all immeasurably in his debt.

Not The Answer

St. Paul, Neb.
In the "Farm Roundup" was a statistic about a man who is raising his corn for $30 less per acre than his neighbor. We really don't know for sure how far in the hole his neighbor might be and if $30 puts him above the break-even point. But let's just suppose the next year he has convinced this neighbor he can make better use of that land and the neighbor moves to a factory job in Des Moines or Omaha. There probably were a couple of other farmers who did the same; maybe three or four families have left the area. Well, that's nothing new. It happens everywhere.

The district had to consolidate again, so it means another mill levy. It wouldn't be too bad if he wasn't still paying the mill levy on the abandoned one. The teachers got a raise, so taxes are climbing. The country is a transitional area too poor to pay the needed teachers and too rich yet for Vista volunteers.

That interest hike will really take a bite, especially since he'll have to borrow so much more in order to operate both of those places. Even sales taxes were more noticeable with the additional purchases. Gas consumption really took a big jump. Besides that needed for the added acres, the new school is seven miles farther away and he's got some kids in sports.

If that doesn't take care of any extra money, the hired man he had to hire to help on the additional acres and keep the new combine going requested a lot of remodeling on the neighbor's house. He won't live in an old shack like the neighbor would.

He just had a visit from the pastor of the neighborhood church. Due to the decreased membership and declining offerings, it is necessary to join another group. The present structure is really a good building but the town has died around it and there are no teachers left to teach the two or three kids in each class. Big farmers just don't have much time to volunteer. That means more gas since the church is 10 miles farther.

The hardware and machine shops just put up their "closed" signs. Not enough volume. More gas; the nearest good repair shop is 20 miles away.

Milk and bread trucks used to stop when there were a few more farmers but it just isn't worth the time to hire a man and truck to serve just a few.

One of the sons after graduation went to driving a truck. He thought if he was going to be on the road all the time, he might just as well get paid for it.

The food bill doubled. His wife was on the road so much getting repairs that the garden went to heck. The hired man gets milk, meat and eggs. Has to buy the milk and eggs.

But he really was right about being able to expand that corn yield on that neighbor's farm. He got 20 bushels more per acre. He really made it pay off. Not only did he make that land produce better but he helped get rid of a rather inefficient neighbor, built a bigger school, helped the ecumenical movement, helped his wife get rid of the garden and chicken chores, convinced his son that farming was just a job, helped kill a town and destroyed another small private enterprise.

But the real irony was that The Problem, the one that the government and other assorted experts say is the cause of it all — overproduction — wasn't solved. It was only multiplied and the social ills, rural and urban, were intensified.

Bigger and more efficient farms just aren't the solution for America or Europe.

Harry Seward, executive vice president of Bankers Life Nebraska, Tuesday was re-elected president of the Lincoln Community Council at the annual meeting held jointly with the Community Chest.

Four Charged With Murder Of 2 Officers

Winston-Salem, N.C. (AP) — Four young men were charged Tuesday with first degree murder in the roadside slaying of two Pilot Mountain, N.C., policemen, shot as they aided in a search for armed bandits.

Surry County Sheriff Jim Taylor filed the charges against Perry Sanders, 21, his brother, Lankie Sanders, 20, and brothers James Arthur Monroe, 21, and Charles Edward Monroe, 20, all of the Sanford, N.C., area.

Winston-Salem police arrested the four on armed robbery charges about midnight Monday, less than an hour after the bodies of Pilot Mountain officers Glenn Rascome, 47, and Ralph East, 60 were found lying beside their patrol car. The car's motor was still running.

Each had been shot several times in the head and body.

Lincoln Airport's United Air Lines Traffic Increases

United Air Lines passenger traffic at the Lincoln Airport increased 15.9% during last year, J. J. Radican, sales and services manager, reported.

A total of 76,371 passengers used the airport facilities last year as compared to 65,896 in 1967.

Radican reported increases in freight and mail volumes also during 1968.

On and off freight volumes were up 21.8% and first class mail increased sharply by 664.8%.

Some 488,700 pounds of first class mail were flown last year in comparison to 63,900 pounds in 1967.

Air mail rose by 12.1%, with 223,200 pounds carried last year and 199,100 in 1967.

Freight totalled 1,611,700 pounds in 1968 and 1,323,400 in 1967.

Express shipments on the airline declined 12.8% in 1968 with 22,900 pounds shipped in and out of Lincoln. Some 255,500 pounds of express were flown during 1967.

Mansfield Urges Lower Vote Age

Washington (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield urged other states Tuesday to follow the lead of Montana, his home state, in lowering the voting age from 21 to 18. The voting age already is 18 in Georgia and Kentucky, 19 in Alaska and 20 in Hawaii.

were Robert Barlow, first vice president; Dr. J. Ford Forsyth, E. Ross Martin and Mrs. Dudley Bailey, vice presidents.

Newly elected to the council board of directors were David L. Anderson, Jack Hart, Kenneth Stevens and C. Bertram Schultz.

Community Chest members elected Herbert Nichols, Theodore J. Cox, Mrs. Max Schuster, Mrs. Gerald Merritt Jr., Dick Sievers, Charles E. Sconyers and Maurice Russell to their board of directors for the first time.

Outgoing Chest president Herb Hopkins was cited for serving an unusual two-year term. He will be succeeded by John Olsson, elected earlier by the Chest board of directors.

In his written annual report, Hopkins announced the implementation of new accounting systems in the member Chest agencies "to be able to allocate funds to those areas where service needs are greatest."

Hopkins said that the "comparisons possible under the new system should help the Chest and Council explain to our contributors how the allocations are made" and promote better understanding of the needs as well.

Council president Seward noted that the council "must accept the responsibility for knowing what is going on and present an organized analyses of community needs to the people."

He said in his written report that "today we see the importance of merging public and private interest for direct service and planning in health and social welfare. This developing partnership between voluntary and governmental sectors

Poster Contest's Theme Is 'Hiring Of Handicapped'

A poster contest for Lincoln high school pupils will be held on the theme of "Hire the Handicapped."

Details of the contest were spelled out at the Mayor's Committee on the Handicapped meeting Tuesday.

Winners are to be announced the first part of May.

Committee members also discussed ideas to inform the public, especially employers, on hiring the handicapped.

Several suggestions made were having a television program, supporting the "sheltered workshop," and fitting people into on-the-job training programs.

Mrs. Bonnie Watson read a letter from the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped which cited the local group for "outstanding work."

Committees were named for the present year.

precludes any thoughts we may have of restricting our interests to only a portion of that total community service delivery system."

Community planning was the topic of keynote speaker James A. Alcott of Kansas City, Mo., who outlined the purposes and the methods that should be used for some 300 persons attending the joint meeting.

Planners should not worry only about duplication of community services, but also should be concerned about finding voids in needed services and determining how well existing services are being performed, he said.

VOICES HER OPINION

Mrs. Marlene Dixon, assistant sociology professor whose contract with the University of Chicago won't be renewed at the end of this year, voices her opinion to newsmen Tuesday. Meanwhile, the sit-in at the university's administration building by students protesting the ousting of Mrs. Dixon went on into the sixth day.

Prague, Moscow Restore Social Ties

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia formally restored cultural and social ties disrupted by the Soviet invasion of its neighbor state. Informed Soviet sources said Prague's new foreign minister would arrive Wednesday for top-level consultations.

Czechoslovak Foreign Minister Jan Marko, recently appointed to succeed reformist Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek, will consult for five days with Soviet foreign policy chiefs, the sources said. He will visit first with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, hospitalized with a broken arm suffered in a fall.

Marko replaced Hajek, who was out of the country at the time of the Aug. 21 invasion and publicly opposed it in the United Nations. Soviet pressure eventually forced Hajek to resign.

News of Marko's reported visit came shortly after the Czechoslovak National Front delegation led by Communist Party official Evzen Erban signed a joint communique with Soviet representatives.

It pledged "periodic consultations, systematic and direct exchange of views and frank information in the interests of strengthening cooperation and of bringing the peoples of Czechoslovakia and the USSR closer together."

Erban's visit and the resultant communique represented the restoration of close Soviet-Czechoslovak ties in the social and cultural fields. They were nullified in effect when Soviet-led Warsaw Pact armies invaded and occupied Czechoslovakia.

PROTECT YOUR FAMILY'S HEALTH

NEWS ON FLUORIDATION
FROM LA LIBERTE
FITCHBERG, MASS.

Dr. Edward O'Rourke, Health Commissioner of New York City, recommends that people with heart "disorders" and pregnant women drink BOTTLE water that is free of CHEMICAL ADDITIVES and urban wastes.

The N.Y.C. Health Department recorded 7 (seven) deaths in New York City in 1967 as the result of FLUOROSIS. This fact was not made public, however; Dr. Carlton Fredericks reported it in an interview shortly before his contract with WOR Radio had expired. (That contract was not extended nor renewed.)

Registered nurses employed by N.Y.C. Hospitals throughout the city will admit PRIVATELY that since October of 1965 (when N.Y.C. water supply was first fluoridated) the number of birth defects: infants born of healthy parents suffering from various irregularities: hydrocephalics (water on the brain); mongoloid idiots and others, has quadrupled in recent years. If you know a nurse in employ of the Pediatrics Department of a N.Y.C. Hospital, ask, and she will tell you.

FLUORIDATION IS OBSOLETE AT BEST FROM PREVENTION MAGAZINE

NO MATTER what scientists may proclaim publicly, with one eye on fat grants from the Public Health Service, the sugar industry or the aluminum industry, those scientists who are sincerely concerned with dental health are quietly facing the fact that fluoridation has failed and are trying to produce something better. In Marquette, Michigan, after 17 years of fluoridation there are so many children with spectacularly bad teeth that the city is now considering a special large appropriation to provide dental care for the young teeth that were not supposed to need it after drinking fluoridated water. In Grand Rapids, Michigan, the mortality rate remains just about the highest in the entire nation.

BENEFICIAL MINERAL COMPOUND

A report in the New Scientist (February 8, 1968) stated that "A report from Australia now suggests that calcium sucrose phosphate may be the answer (as an alternative to fluoridation). According to Dr. R. Harris and his colleagues, writing in the Australian Dental Journal (1968, Volume 12, page 105), incorporation of this substance into the diet of a group of Sydney school children has been highly effective in combating dental caries.

FROM THE CITIZEN
FROSTBURG, MD.

AMA PUBLICATION SAYS FLUORIDATION UNWISE

American Journal of Diseases of Children (Editorial August 1963 — Publication of American Medical Ass'n)

1. Dosage is highly variable and inaccurate.
2. Older children and adults need not and should not be dosed with the drug.
3. Fluoridated water is of no benefit to plants and may be undesirable for edible plants when such plants are ingested by animals, birds, or humans.
4. Fluorine is a potent poison.

WHAT HAPPENED TO FLUORIDATION?

A press release from the University of Md. Professional Schools stated that a program instituted by the School of Dentistry is sending countless children to dentists for the first time. It says many have six and seven extractions plus fillings.

But what happened to fluoridation? Baltimore has been fluoridated since 1952. The proponents of fluoridation say it is for the purpose of helping cut down on the decay of teeth . . . yet today, 16 years after fluoridation children's teeth in Baltimore are worse than ever. The excuse that the children didn't have it from birth cannot be used, because the children spoken of are from four to 10 years of age.

FROM N.Y. ACADEMY OF SCIENCES

The University of Pennsylvania Department of Pathology reports large numbers of young animals and birds in the Philadelphia Zoo dying of coronary artery disease, myocardial fibrosis and myocardial infarction in recent years. (Fluoridation of water supply coincides with this as to time).

PROTECT YOUR FAMILY from slow fluoride poisoning, slow chemical sterilization (female and male) from stillbirth in meat, nitrate poisoning from nitrogen fertilizers, D.D.T. and many other health destroyers.

We urge our legislature to take action to protect our people.

Anti-Israeli Protests Spread In Occupied Areas

Jerusalem (UPI) —Arab students stoned Israeli jeeps and police fired warning shots in the air Tuesday during anti-Israeli protests that spread from the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip to the Arab nationalist hotbed of Nablus in occupied Jordan.

The Paris newspaper France-Soir meanwhile reported that a French firm had sold 700 armored half-tracks to Saudi Arabia, but that many of the vehicles may end up in the hands of the Egyptian army.

Students waving flags and chanting "We are all Al Fatah (guerrillas)" threw up barricades of iron beds and stones in the streets of Nablus, and shopkeepers in the old walled quarter of the town went on strike.

They were demonstrating in support of Arabs living in the Gaza Strip, scene of anti-Israeli protests during the past few days.

Israeli authorities clamped an immediate curfew on two residential areas of Nablus and arrested 14 demonstrators.

In Jerusalem, several thousand

Israeli high school students marched through the city to pay homage to the nine Iraqi Jews hanged in Baghdad last week. The students carried banners in English, Arabic and Hebrew saying "Let my people go."

In Cairo, Yassir Arafat, leader of the major Arab guerrilla organization Al Fatah, pledged to escalate armed revolt in all parts of Israeli-occupied Palestine.

In Cairo the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram reported "very important" decisions were made in talks between President Gamal Abdel Nasser and Soviet Communist Party central committee and politburo member Alexander N. Shelepin earlier this week.

Reports from Cairo and Damascus indicated growing splits within Arab ranks.

Aden and Sana'a radio broadcasts heard in Cairo said tension was mounting between Yemen and South Yemen. Aden radio said huge crowds marched through the streets of Aden Monday protesting Sana'a's criticism of the South Yemen government.

Israeli Puts Down Nasser's Plan

New York Times Service

Jerusalem — Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said Monday Egyptian President Nasser's most recent proposal on the Middle East was "a plan for liquidating Israel in two stages."

Referring to a lengthy interview of the Egyptian leader in the current issue of Newsweek magazine, Eban characterized the solution put forward by Nasser this way:

"First, Israel is to withdraw to the previous armistice line with Egyptian troops and air forces re-occupying Sinai. Then, with Egyptian support, the so-called 'resistance fighters' will move to 'liberate their homeland.'"

The body of Laura E. Hefley, 20, was found Tuesday behind the University of Louisville Reynolds Building near the campus at Louisville, Ky. The music major from Fulton, Ky., had been raped and strangled, police said.

Reagan Discloses Budget; Plans Tax Cut

Sacramento, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan proposed a $6.23 billion budget Tuesday, telling Californians he will hold down spending and tap a big treasury surplus to provide the first state income tax cut since World War II.

The GOP governor also said that if the Republican-controlled legislature doesn't increase his spending program:

"We can offer the same happy result in 1970-71: A balanced budget that meets the state's needs without new taxes."

As usual, the total figure of $6,225,663,118 was a record for California, and second among the nation's states only to New York, which has a $6.4-billion proposal for the year starting April 1.

Reagan's proposal is 3.9% above the total expected to be spent in the current book-keeping year, but nine per cent higher than the budget he introduced a year ago.

'Conspiracy' Leads To Successful Concert

By RUTH ARDIS

Everything including the weather conspired to make the fourth concert of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra series a success. The program was well-chosen, the performances were good, and the large audience was receptive and responsive to the musical fare.

Conductor Leo Kopp had chosen music encompassing 150 years, from Mozart to Ginastera. The Overture to "Cosi Fan Tutte" was followed by Brahms' Fourth Symphony.

Brahms' capacity for combining lyricism of expression with nobility and grandeur are never more in evidence than in his Fourth. His abandoning of the usual Scherzo for a robust Allegro Giocoso and his use of an elaborate theme and variations in the fourth movement are the personal expression of his genius.

A few minor tempo skirmishes between conductor, strings, and brasses were evident in the first movement and the woodwinds marred some of the variations in the fourth movement. However, it must be realized that a work of this magnitude demands much more than the limited number of rehearsals allotted to the group. On the whole, it was a very satisfying performance.

The last half of the program was devoted to two ballets in the Spanish idiom. All the characteristics of Spanish popular music are found in Manuel de Falla's "El Amor Brujo" although the melodies are his own and not actually folk melodies of the country.

theater caused almost as much comment as the music.

Prevention Of Gum Disease Said Problem For Diabetics

Prevention of gum disease is the major problem in oral hygiene for diabetics, a University of Nebraska Dental College professor told the Lincoln Diabetic Association Tuesday night.

Dr. William D. Ahrens told the group that while diabetes is not the cause of gum infections, it can accelerate the problems. He added that tooth decay is usually less of a problem since diabetics restrict their carbohydrate intake.

The surface of the susceptible area in the mouth around a normal set of 32 teeth would cover one's entire forearm, Ahrens said.

He noted that gum diseases are not painful until the infection has progressed so far as to make extration of teeth necessary.

Dr. Ahrens explained that the best control of gum disease and tooth decay is by prevention with a program of oral hygiene. He recommended brushing or at least rinsing with water after every meal since most decaying activity takes place within ten minutes after eating.

It is also important to thoroughly clean one's teeth at least once a day, he said.

Dr. Ahrens added that a normal set of 32 teeth has about 160 surfaces and that it would take about three minutes to clean each surface for one second. He said that dental floss as well as a toothbrush was necessary to do a thorough job.

Dr. Ahrens recommended using a soft toothbrush with a flat surface.

Electric toothbrushes and water pics can help, he said, but they are not a panacea.

Parker Charged With Assault During Breakin

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — Curbin Parker, 21, of Macy, Neb., has been charged with breaking and entering and assault with intent to commit murder in connection with a break-in Saturday night at the Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. here.

Total bond for Parker, alias Allen Jon Williams, has been set at $20,000. Parker was charged with assault upon Albert Card, 49, production manager of the firm. He was struck on the head with a claw hammer, officials said.

Card's wife, who was with him in the building at the time of the incident, suffered minor injuries when she, too, was struck with the hammer. However, the couple was able to apprehend the assailant and telephone for help.

Abby hand him the money Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a neighbor whom we would like to help, but we don't know where to start.

She grumbles and pities herself so much it is a chore to visit her. Her children have moved far away and seldom telephone her. (I suppose they can't stand her whining.) She sits and does fancy work most of the time, and little else. She goes from one doctor to another and doesn't like any of them.

When one of the neighbors takes her shopping, she'll sit in the car for an hour afterwards, complaining and wasting their time.

Her husband doesn't seem much concerned. They rarely go out. She has a lovely comfortable home, but she is so lonely and unhappy. How can we help her?

HER NEIGHBORS
DEAR NEIGHBORS: It is difficult to say whether your neighbor is a malcontent or emotionally disturbed, but since she "goes from one doctor to another," I assume she's under observation or treatment for whatever ails her.

Some people find a curious comfort in feeling sorry for themselves, and those who complain most about "neglect" actually invite it.

If it makes YOU feel any better, call on your lonely and unhappy neighbor. But don't look for any improvement. She may be happier than you think.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old boy who has had a problem nagging at me since I was 11 years old. You see, when I was younger I did some damage to a neighbor's house. (I broke two windows on purpose.) I never owned up to it, but now I would like to pay this neighbor for the damage I did, but I don't want him to know who did it. Can you suggest some way of paying this man without letting him know who I am? Sign this

GROWN UP
DEAR GROWN UP: You could get an estimate of the damage and mail him the money. But I have a better suggestion. Face him like a man, apologize, and hand him the money. He can only admire you for it, and you'll have proven to yourself that you've really "grown up." Congratulations.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ELIZABETH: Tell your husband if HE'LL lose 40 pounds, YOU'LL lose 20. That way you'll have a closer relationship.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The bidding:

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

Whenever declarer is playing a slam, he should give the hand much more tender loving care than when he is playing, say, two clubs, trying to make three. The stakes are that much bigger and surely justify extra thought.

South was in six spades and West led the queen of diamonds, won by declarer with the king.

It did not take South long to go down. He returned a low spade at trick two. West went up with the ace, led the jack of diamonds, and East ruffed to put South down one.

Actually, declarer should have made the slam for a plus of 1,730 points, instead of going down one for no score.

It was obvious from the start that only a diamond ruff could beat the contract. This was not a farfetched possibility, particularly in the light of East's play of the six of diamonds on the opening lead. The six carried a clear suggestion of danger.

Declarer's thoughts therefore should have been firmly concentrated on ways and means of overcoming the possible ruff. Instead of blithely leading a trump at trick two, South should have cashed the ace of clubs and ace of hearts before ruffing a heart in dummy with the seven.

Then, after discarding the five of diamonds on the king of clubs, he forces out the ace of trumps. It no longer matters how the opponents' cards are divided. Once the trump ace is gone, South automatically has the rest of the tricks.

The governing principle that applies is exactly the same as always when the contract appears to be safely in tow. Declarer says to himself: "What can possibly defeat me?" If he finds an affirmative answer to the question, he takes every step he can to overcome the hypothetical danger.

Miss Lundholm, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lundholm, was presented a personal shower during the afternoon hours. The University of Nebraska coed has chosen Saturday, March 1, as the date for her marriage to David Grasmick, a senior at the University of Nebraska, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Grasmick of North Platte.

As an understudy for a month that completely flunked the 'January-thaw' course this year, February is doing rather well. Not much thaw, up to now, but it brought with it the principal ingredient — sunshine.

But never mind the weather and on with the news—

Some cruise travelers are back home—Mr. and Mrs. E. Sheldon Hallett returned home on Saturday from a month's Caribbean cruise aboard the Stella Oceonis. After port stops in Haiti and other early cruise spots, the travelers went on to Colombia, S.A., where they visited Santa Marta and Cartagena—then westward to Panama, and Guatemala where Mr. and Mrs. Hallett went inland for some sight-seeing. They joined their ship later for the journey back to the States.

It was 50 years ago that Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Hyland had their wedding, and in celebration of that 50 years ago event their sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hyland, Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Hyland, Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. Hyland, and their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Edward H. Schaumberg, will be hosts and hostesses at the Lincoln Country Club on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 9.

The guests have been invited for the hours of 3 o'clock until 5 o'clock.

Heard that Miss Mary Alice Ackerman left on Tuesday morning to return to classes at Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn., where she is a junior this year. Miss Ackerman has been spending her between-semesters holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James N. Ackerman.

Wedding Plans And Parties

Revealing plans for a February wedding is Miss Sandra Lee Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Miller, who has chosen Saturday, Feb. 8, for her marriage to Daniel Paul Guida, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Guida of Tyler, Minn.

For the 7 o'clock evening ceremony, which will be solemnized at the Havelock Christian and Missionary Alliance, Miss Miller has named her fiancé's sister, Mrs. Alan Carlson of Cambridge, Minn., as her honor attendant. Her bridesmaids will be Miss Eldora Shantz of Janesville, Wis., and Miss Janet Adams of Waverly, and Miss Debbie Miller will attend her sister as flower girl.

Mr. Guida's sisters, Miss Karen Guida and Miss Darla Guida, will light the chancel candles.

Serving his brother as best man will be David Guida, and the ushers will be John Burley, Hays, Kan., and Neil Dean, St. Paul, Minn.

Miss Miller's brother, Mike Miller, and Sid Lindmark of Bemidji, Minn., will be the groomsmen. The ringbearer will be Scott Shriver of Tecumseh, Kan.

The soon-to-be bride was presented a miscellaneous shower on Tuesday evening at a courtesy held at Gateway Manor Penthouse. Hostesses for the party were feminine members of the congregation of the Havelock Christian and Missionary Alliance.

Thursday evening, Miss Miller was presented a personal shower at a party for which Mrs. Peggy Rose was hostess at her home. The guests included feminine co-employees of the bride-elect's mother at the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and her fiancé received his degree from Bemidji State College, Bemidji, Minn.

Eastborough

in the suburban areas

Now that the first week in February has arrived—and though we fear to mention it in case we might frighten old sol away—the sun has appeared continuously for several days, we've begun to believe that there really will be a spring.

The combination of a particularly cold, snowy winter and several varieties of colds and flu, made the January social calendar less crowded than usual. However, all work and no play makes a dull life for anyone, and the residents of suburbia certainly are anything but dull. In spite of everything, they have managed to keep up some of their many activities—today we have news of an Eastborough family who recently returned from Oklahoma, house guests and visitors in another Eastborough home and news of not one, not two, but three, birthday celebrations.

We'll begin with Eastborough area residents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Mitchell and sons, Phil and Neil, who returned to Lincoln on Sunday evening, Jan. 26, after spending the weekend in Oklahoma visiting Mr. Mitchell's relatives. While in Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and their sons were the house guests of Mr. Mitchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mitchell, in Purcell. Making the brief visit more pleasant was the arrival of Mr. Mitchell's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon R. Mitchell, who arrived from Norman, Okla., to join the other members of the family.

The Eastborough home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Neal has been a flurry of activity with guests coming and going almost simultaneously. Sunday, Feb. 2, Mr. and Mrs. Neal entertained Mr. Neal's sister, Mrs. Mary Ludwig, and her daughter, Sara, of Wahoo as their house guests. Then on Monday Mr. Neal's mother, Mrs. Alma Kolar, and her brother Bob Kolar of Giltner stopped in for an unexpected but most welcome afternoon visit.

And now we can start with news of those birthday celebrations we mentioned. Of course, the most enjoyable type of party is a surprise, and that is exactly how Richard Taylor felt the night of Friday, Jan. 31. That evening Mr. Taylor's mother, Mrs. Albert Taylor, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hickok and their children, Kelly and Lorie, arrived at the Eastborough residence for a party in honor of Mr. Taylor's birthday anniversary.

The surprise element we mentioned involves the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Hickok. You see, they had been residents of the Los Angeles area until that Friday when they arrived in Lincoln to become permanent residents.

Another guest of honor at a birthday celebration in Eastborough recently was Miss Becky Reiber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving G. Reiber, who was seven years old on Sunday, Feb. 2. Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reiber for young Miss Reiber's birthday party were her brother, Mike; her cousins, Cindy and Todd Opsal; and neighborhood friends, Jean Kay, Sean and Mary Kuyper and Mary Ann McLawhorn.

Military Pay Reform Is Seen As Step Toward Draft's End

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday the Pentagon will seek major revisions in the military pay structure as a first step toward reduced reliance on the draft.

The Defense Department is under injunction from President Nixon to come up with a detailed plan for ending the draft when Vietnam military expenses can be cut substantially with the aim of having an all-volunteer force.

Laird appointed a new assistant secretary of defense for manpower and reserve affairs Tuesday and said he will be given "high priority responsibility for decisive action" in modernizing the service pay system.

New Appointee
The new man is Roger T. Kelley, 50, a vice president of the Caterpillar Tractor Co. of Peoria, Ill. Kelley has directed worldwide personnel programs for the 62,000-employee firm.

Laird told a news conference last week he believes a modernization of military pay is absolutely required "if we are ever going to move in the direction of volunteer forces in the United States."

The draft currently is the Pentagon's main tool for keeping up military strength, now numbering 3.4 million active duty personnel.

"I am aware that much study has been given to the matter of military compensation during the past two years," Laird said. "But the fact is that no specific proposals have been presented to the Congress for much-needed and overdue military pay reforms."

Pentagon officials feel the military pay setup is so complex and fragmented that few uniformed men really know exactly how much they are paid to serve their country.

Until military pay is improved and its value can easily be seen by young men, officials say, the Pentagon will always have trouble attracting people and keeping them in service.

The study Laird referred to is the report on military pay prepared by a group headed by Rear Adm. Lester Hubbell and forwarded to Congress last year.

This report, four years in the making, recommended a major revamping of the pay system to put career servicemen on a straight salary comparable to government civil service, rather than the current pay and allowances system.

TRAIN... testifies.

Conservation Man, Train, Okayed Fast

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Interior Committee unanimously and swiftly approved Tuesday President Nixon's nomination of conservationist Russell E. Train to be undersecretary of interior.

The approval, which came after only two hours of questioning, was in sharp contrast to the committee's five-day interrogation of Nixon's choice of Walter J. Hickel as interior secretary.

Train promised the committee he would keep an open mind on such issues as land reclamation and water development projects, federal jurisdiction over fish and wildlife on federal lands, and lake pollution.

In the closed portion, Train satisfied the committee that he had disposed of, or placed in trust, any assets that might present conflict of interest in his new post.

He is president of the Conservation Foundation and founder of the African Leadership Wildlife Foundation.

Secret Documents Fell Into North Korean Hands

Coronado, Calif. (UPI) — The head of the intelligence unit aboard the USS Pueblo said Tuesday secret documents fell into North Korean hands despite his men's frantic efforts to burn and shred them.

Lt. Stephen Harris, 31, Melrose, Mass., told a naval court of inquiry his "spook" unit "did the best we could" to destroy equipment and documents in their secret research area when the ship was captured.

Under questioning, Harris conceded that his unit did not fully carry out skipper Lloyd M. Bucher's command to get rid of the documents in that area.

Confusion
A scholarly appearing man,

Harris told the five admirals that there was tremendous confusion aboard the Pueblo at the time it came under fire from the North Koreans until it was finally captured and that he was unable to see that all the secret papers were destroyed.

The electronic equipment in his area, however, was "reduced to powder" before the Communists boarded the ship, Harris said.

As he concluded his testimony, Harris was asked if he had any final statement to make.

Matter Of Time
"I would like it understood that during this period of destruction there was a tremendous volume of material to be destroyed under the most trying circumstances of combat, with people wounded, smoke in the area, and the matter of time," Harris said.

"We were united in doing the best we possibly could during that day," Harris said that they could not dump material over the side of the ship because Seaman Duane Hodges lay mortally wounded in "a passageway and because of heavy Communist gunfire across the deck. Five fires were set but a blaze could not be started in the main research area because there was no ventilation.

Restrictions On Oil Drilling Are Ordered

Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP) — Drilling resumed Tuesday in the oil-polluted Santa Barbara Channel after oil companies agreed to stricter regulations ordered by the Department of the Interior.

The action came as a 10-by-20-mile oil slick from a leaking undersea well completely surrounded offshore Anacapa Island and drifted within two miles of this resort city's beaches and yacht basin.

An emergency board set up by the federal department made a check of six wells in the area during the night and ordered:

—More frequent testing of blow-out prevention devices.

—More rigid procedures for drilling.

—Installation of additional casing where required.

Union Oil Co. of California reported progress in stemming the flow of oil from an ocean-floor well which ruptured a week ago, sending an estimated 150,000 gallons of oil so far to the surface.

in counterfeit bills Tuesday in a pre-dawn raid described as "one of the largest seizures in our history." Two men were arrested.

Special agent in charge Robert Mampel ranked the seizure as the third or fourth highest, trailing a $4 million seizure in January of 1968 in New York City and one of about $2 million in 1963 in San Francisco.

Mampel said the counterfeit ring began operations here in January of 1968, and that bogus $20 bills appeared in Columbus the same month.

Other bogus bills were passed in Port Huron and Detroit, Mich., and Los Angeles, Calif., in denominations of $10, $20 and $100 bills described as "average to good."

Arrested were 28-year-old Lawrence Whitt of Oakland, Calif., and his uncle, Jack G. Whitt, 44, of Columbus. Both men were arrested at an unidentified Columbus motel when they tried to sell $50,950 in phony bills to a Secret Service agent.

After the arrest, agents raided the home of Jack Whitt and uncovered the remainder of the money and printing equipment.

Agents said only a "very small" amount of the money had been circulated before the seizure.

Sources Say Rocky To Make Latin Trips

Washington — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has agreed in principle to make a series of short fact-finding trips to Latin America for President Nixon, qualified informants said Tuesday.

Rockefeller said in Albany that he "would like to be of assistance" to the Nixon administration in reviewing and reappraising the nation's inter-American policies. He said that he shared Nixon's faith in the "importance of Western Hemisphere unity to the security and well being of all the Americas."

Reports that Rockefeller might visit the hemisphere nations on behalf of the new administration have created widespread interest in the Latin press and Latin political circles.

Several countries — reportedly including

Venezuela, Mexico and Brazil — have already sent messages of welcome to the governor.

The governor, whose experience in hemisphere affairs began as President Franklin D. Roosevelt's coordinator of Inter-American affairs from 1940 to 1944, has reportedly told Nixon that he is not interested in a "showboat" tour for political effect.

His mission, according to his associates, will be to report to Nixon what the Latin leaders say they are doing to raise their peoples' living standards and how the U.S. can help them.

Proposed Shifts In Tax Levying Authority Held

Legislation which would transfer from the State Board of Equalization and Assessment to the state tax commissioner the duty of levying a tax on railroad carlines and nonresident motor carriers was held Tuesday by the Revenue Committee for further consideration.

The two bills, LB396 and LB397, will be joined in committee Wednesday by a companion measure handing the tax commissioner the duty of levying a tax on air transportation carriers.

None of the three bills run into the constitutional questions involved in transferring property tax equalization authority to the tax commissioner, according to Randall Rinkquest, attorney for the commissioner.

Proposal Studied
The equalization transfer proposal is being studied by the attorney general's office for possible constitutional problems.

Deputy Lancaster County Assessor Barney Schrepf suggested that the committee consider changing the methodology of taxing carlines and nonresident bus and truck companies. Schrepf was asked to present his ideas to the tax commissioner for review.

Among five other bills which were subjected to public hearing and held for later consideration was a measure providing that the tax commissioner, rather than the state board, be directed to review changes made by a county board in reappraisal values of real estate.

Larger Staff?
Sen. Rudolf Kokes of Ord questioned whether the bill, LB394, and a host of other tax proposals will require the tax commissioner to greatly enlarge his staff.

Other bills might result in the addition of appraisers, Commissioner Murrell McNeil said. But the number would be fewer than 10, he said.

Two bills heard without opposition, LB392 and LB393, would direct county boards of equalization to send one member to the tax commissioner's training course for county assessors each year.

All seven measures heard by the committee were sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

Health Committee

A bill giving cities and villages the power of eminent domain in acquiring sites for solid waste disposal was advanced to the floor Tuesday by the Legislature's Public Health and Welfare Committee.

Opposition to the measure, LB415, introduced by Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, came from the Farmers Union and Nebraska Farm Bureau.

Spokesman said the grant of eminent domain to municipalities for this purposes was unnecessary and would open the door to abuses of this extraordinary power in rural areas.

A companion bill, also introduced by Mrs. Orme, proposed that a county operating a waste disposal area may contract with incorporated municipalities within the county for its use by the municipality.

The committee also advanced the measure, LB416, which had no opposition.

A third bill, LB414, which would authorize the State Health Department, to license radiation sources not controlled by a licensed practitioner of the healing arts, was held by the committee for amendments at the request of Sen. Orme.

She said the purposes of the bill was to extend licensing procedures for radioactive materials in industry, which are presently only subject to registration.

Students Protest American B52s At Okinawa Base

Naha, Okinawa (UPI) — Students wearing helmets and hurling Molotov cocktails tried to storm the gates of the U.S. Air Force base Tuesday to protest stationing B52 bombers there.

Okinawan riot police used clubs to break up the charge by an estimated 1,200 students. Twelve students were injured.

Air Force officials had taken steps to protect the base, including the installation of barbed wire barricades along the fence facing the public highway where students and other protesters marched. Okinawan police manned security positions around the outside border of the base, from which the B52s fly on bombing missions to Vietnam.

Legislature Advances Plan Aiding Visually Handicapped

A bill establishing the Nebraska School for the Visually Handicapped at Nebraska City as a state resource center for all educational programs for the visually handicapped received preliminary approval Tuesday in the Legislature.

The bill, sponsored by Nebraska City Sen. Rick Budd, also would provide for the in-service training of teachers, counseling services and loaning of equipment to local schools and educational units.

Budd said the bill was backed by school officials and merely makes official some duties now being carried out by the school in some areas.

He said only about one-third of the state's visually handicapped children are at the school itself and that the bill allows the use of all the school's resources in helping to educate the other two-thirds in the state.

Also passing its first test was a bill to raise the percentage of the salary of the head of a household that can be garnished by a creditor for nonpayment of debt. The current limit is 10%. The bill would raise it to 15%.

The bill was opposed by State Sen. James Waldron of Callaway, who said it merely worked a hardship on the poor person and really had no place in modern society. The vote was 30-9 to advance it.

Oil and gas leases on 24,834 acres of state school land brought a total of $50,285 Tuesday at an auction conducted by the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds.

All tracts were located in Sioux County except for a 640-acre tract in Cheyenne County and two tracts of 640 acres each in Box Butte County.

The top price of $3.50 per acre was paid by Robert B. Knox of Casper, Wyo., for the oil-gas lease on a 640-acre tract in Sioux County.

The lowest bid was a minimum 50-cent per acre bid by Allied Chemical Co. of Arvada, Colo., on the Cheyenne County tract.

Bids on Sioux County tracts ranged downward to $1 per acre. Leases on 29 of the 37 Sioux County tracts involved were purchased by International Nuclear of Denver, Colo.

The lease on one of the Box Butte County tracts was purchased by Knox for $1.25 per acre, and the lease on the other Box Butte tract went to J. H. Bender and Peter Couch of Abilene, Tex., for $1.30 per acre.

Lincoln General Hospital's Emergency Service Improved

Lincoln General Hospital has contracted with seven physicians from Omaha and York to staff an emergency department offering 24-hour service, administrator Robert Brungard announced Tuesday.

Under the hospital's new plan for providing emergency service, one physician will be on duty day and night to treat incoming emergencies as well as situations arising within the hospital, such as cardiac arrests, Brungard reported.

During the past several months when Lincoln General had no interns working in the hospital, emergency service was provided through two Orthopedic Hospital residents on call.

Prior to last summer, emergency service was provided through interns and a voluntary rotation of the medical staff, according to Brungard.

The physicians on duty in the emergency department also will be involved in teaching at Lincoln General's school of nursing and in training interns that the hospital expects to have next year, he said.

The administrator emphasized that "the fact that an emergency department physician will always be available does not in any way inhibit a patient from requesting and receiving care from his own personal physician, nor does it preclude any staff physician from seeing his own patients if he so desires."

The basic charge of the emergency department physician for treating a patient will be $7, in addition to the hospital fee for handling emergencies. However, the hospital has dropped its fee from $10 to $7.50 as a result of the change, Brungard said.

The four Omaha physicians provide the emergency treatment service for Methodist Hospital. The three York physicians are in general practice.

Each of the men will come to Lincoln one day per week for a 24-hour shift, 8 a.m.-8 a.m., it was explained.

Staffing the department will be Drs. Harris Graves, chairman, Robert Stryker, William Weingarten and Lawrence Anderson, all of Omaha, and Drs. Michael Breiner, Richard Brouillette and Darroll Loschen, all of York.

Snow Removal Aid Advanced

CARMICHAEL

Wednesday, February 5, 1969 The Lincoln Star 19

By ROBERT BERG
United Press International
The Unicameral gave first-round approval Tuesday to a bill designed to aid northeast Nebraska dig out from the heavy blanket of snow covering it.
The approval came 44-0 after the bill was amended temporarily, the amendment was stripped from the bill, and a promise came of another attempt to amend the bill before it receives final approval.
The bill, sponsored by State Sen. Jules Burchard of Crofton, would allocate $1 million to aid in clearing the snow from the blocked county and township roads in the northeast.

Before the counties could receive aid, they would have to have spent an amount equal to one mill times the valuation of the county involved or equal to 1 1/2 mills times the valuation of rural real estate in the county.
Matching Basis
All aid would be granted on a matching basis, with counties required to pay 30% of the cost covered by state aid.
State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, saying a few of the counties are so financially hard pressed that they couldn't afford the 30%, introduced an amendment to strip both the matching requirement and the spending eligibility requirement from the bill.

"If we're going to help these people let's help them," Carpenter said. "I don't think we have to put up all these restrictions and all these limitations on something that has to be done."
Local Effort
State Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell said he thought "we should retain some local effort" in the bill.
Carpenter said "those counties who can't raise their share, what do they do? We're all one family. We're just trying to help people."
State Sen. Elmer Wallwey of Emerson said "I'd like to point out there's been some local effort, so much, in fact, that they can't afford any more. That's the purpose of the bill."

The amendment was adopted on a 32-12 vote, then later dropped by Carpenter.
The Scottsbluff senator said he will introduce an amendment later when the bill is up for approval the second time to cut out the matching portion of the bill.
'Matter of Compassion'
"This is a matter of compassion for your fellow man," he said.
Carpenter withdrew the amendment, which also would have removed the designation that the money was first for the removal of snow, after it was learned that any funds not used for snow removal would actually revert to the governor's emergency fund for use in later emergencies if they should arise.
State Sen. Rudolf Kokes of Ord told the legislators the snow removal would not be the only problem associated with the snow.
"In the spring when these tremendous snow banks thaw, the bottoms will go out of these roads and the cost will be tremendous," he said.
State Sen. Elvin Adamson, at the end of the lengthy debate on the subject, said he had another idea of how the legislators might aid the snowbound residents of the northeast.
"Just ship all this hot air up there," he quipped.

POSTCARD
by Stan Delaplaine
Paradise Island is 10 minutes across the bridge from Nassau in the sugary, warm Bahamas.
It's been owned by millionaires Axel Wenner-Gren and Huntington Hartford. Then they built a bridge from Nassau.
Now Paradise — ("we used to come over in boats") — has four hotels, a booming gambling Casino and a good share of the million frozen tourists who come down each year to thaw out.
We came down for the opening of the new Britannia Beach hotel. (It didn't take much urging. "I'm freezing," I said. "Let's get out of here.")
This morning we sit by the warm blue sea. A bottle of cold St. Pauli Girl on the table.
"And if you want something else, sah, you must just speak to me about it," said the waiter.
He's a six foot, black Bahamian in a snow-white jacket trimmed with scarlet piping.

The Bahamians are the cheerful people of the rum-and-sugar islands. All of the island ancestors came in the slave ships. But the people have turned out differently.
Bahamians I like the best of all.
The new hotel is full already. With wiring still coming out of the walls and carpenters sawing what will be Bird Cage Walk.
The walkway to the Casino will be filled with tropical birds, restaurants branching off.
The hotel opened simply because guests were fighting to get into rooms. The Bahamas tourist business has been jumping about 25% a year. It's a short airline flight from freezing New York.
The tourist arrives in the land of sunshine.
A New Yorker in the elevator said: "I had to thaw out my hands before I could handle the dice."
The Casino — (Las Vegas east?) is for high rollers by Nevada standards.
The dice table bet is $5. (For some reason you must add a quarter to this, maybe to give the house better odds.) Blackjack bets are $5 — $2 allowed for a ladies only table.
There are about 200 slot machines. All 25 or 50 cents.
The Bahamas are glad to see this gambling but are touchy about their image.
"We don't want to be known as a gambling place," they say.
And about Life magazine's story of Mafia connections: "That was on Grand Bahama—another island. Not Nassau."
The cruise ships are coming to Nassau these warm days. Two big white cruisers in this morning unloading tourists.
They jammed the town. Nassau is a pretty town of white British colonial buildings, narrow Bay Street and a native market full of woven baskets.
It's a free port. No tax, no duty. Perfume. Cameras. Binoculars. Radios. (A bit of comparison shopping: Prices lower than the U.S. but higher than most free ports.)
In the midst of this prosperity, the waiters' union has been holding half hour sit-down strikes. Right in the middle of dinners.
The waiter said: "You see, sah, we get $24 a week. And we would like to share this prosperity, too."

Wire-Tapping Bill Introduced

The Legislature Tuesday received a proposal which would authorize wire-tapping by law enforcement officers with court approval.
The bill, LB968, signed by Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr., of Omaha, provides that the court may authorize wire-tapping upon request of the attorney general or a county attorney.
Wire-tapping could be used to help lawmen discover evidence in cases involving murder, kidnapping, gambling, robbery, bribery, extortion, possession of narcotics, and other felonies.

Among 14 other new bills introduced was a measure which would sharply increase the excise tax on beer and liquor.
LB975, sponsored by Sen. Lester Harsh of McCook, would boost the tax on beer from eight to 12 cents a gallon, and hike the tax on alcohol from $1.60 to $2 a gallon.
The excise levy on wines would also be increased: from 20 to 25 cents a gallon on light wine, and from 55 to 70 cents on heavier wines.

LB979, signed by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff and 10 co-sponsors, would establish a statewide system of seven community colleges, assisted by state financial aid.
Another Pedersen bill, LB978, provides a loan program for Nebraska residents seeking adult or post-high school education.
The bill total when the session adjourned for the day stood at 980.

cerned with breaking the law, senators should not be concerned with the disruption of his education, Batchelder said.
Proud Thanked For Orientation Session Series
Several freshman senators in the Legislature made maiden floor speeches Tuesday in support of a resolution thanking Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha for arranging and conducting a series of orientation sessions for the new legislators.
The resolution, No. 14, was approved 42-0.
A slip of the tongue by Sen. Theodore Wenzlaff of Sutton gave lawmakers a laugh.
Wenzlaff said "I'm the first to admit I was green as a gourd when I first came here, and I want to thank Sen. Gourd."
Overtaking the slip, Wenzlaff said that as a result of Sen. Proud's effort, "I am now only olive green."

Marijuana Penalty Bill Advanced

The Legislature Tuesday handed first round floor approval to a bill ordering a 30-day suspension from school for any college or university student convicted of possession of marijuana.
LB8, sponsored by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, won 40-0 endorsement as it began its journey toward final reading.
The bill also provides that any presiding officer of a public college or university who fails to comply with the suspension penalty will be subject to a $500 fine and removal from office.
Carpenter said the bill is needed to help head off "a very detrimental situation" which could develop with the increased use of marijuana by college students throughout the nation.
LB8 originally proposed that convicted students be barred from Nebraska colleges and universities for life, but was amended in committee with Carpenter's assent.

Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine expressed some reluctance toward the 30-day suspension, noting that such a penalty would, in effect, cause a student to lose a semester's work.
Perhaps, he suggested, some sort of probation would be better.
But Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha said such concern provides "an example of the permissiveness which is sweeping the country," and causing some of its problems.
If the student is not concerned with breaking the law, senators should not be concerned with the disruption of his education, Batchelder said.

Syas Requests Withdrawal Of Grasshopper Bill

Sen. George Syas, having made his point, asked the Legislature Tuesday for permission to withdraw his LB938, designating the red-legged grasshopper as the official state insect.
The Omaha lawmaker had explained when he introduced the bill Monday he wanted simply to emphasize that the Legislature was involving itself in too many unimportant subjects.
The withdrawal request was laid over under rules requiring a one-day delay in such cases.

Civil War Frustrates Nigeria

... TROOPS BEING PREPARED FOR 'LAST OFFENSIVE'

By ALFRED FRIENDLY JR.

Lagos, Nigeria — A civil war that started as a short, sharp "police action" and has since dragged through 19 more and more painful months is draining Nigeria of her self-confidence.

In a mood that is decreasingly cocky and increasingly frustrated, federal leaders are readying their troops for what many look to as the final drive against five million loosely encircled secessionists in Biafra.

"This will be our last offensive," External Affairs Commissioner Okoi Arikpo remarked a few days ago. "It has to be."

End of February
If the regime that declared Nigeria's former Eastern Region independent May 30, 1967, is not completely subdued by the end of February, he added, there is every likelihood that it will receive so much more international support — especially from France and potentially from the United States — that military victory will become next to impossible.

"I know that everybody wants the war to finish quickly," said Brig. Hassan Usman Katsina, the jaunty, polo-playing army chief of staff, who knows Nigeria's logistic shortcomings at close hand. "but it is not as easy as they think."

For four months, in fact, the war has been all but stalemated. The last major federal drive carried troops of Col. Benjamin Adekunle's 3rd Marine Command Division into Owerri Sept. 17. He failed in an attempt to push farther north to Oguta, and from there to Biafra's last operative airfield; at Uli-Ihiala.

Arms Aid Helped

Instead, a major infusion of arms — mostly from France — that were flown in by way of Gabon or the Portuguese island or Sao Tome, revived the Biafrans' military fortunes. Sporadic counterattacks all along the 3rd Division's disjointed front from Ito to Aba to Owerri have kept the Nigerian forces off balance.

The demoralized 2nd Division has not been able to expand its perimeter significantly beyond Onitsha since it captured that Niger River city last March 21. To the east, its road link to the undersupplied garrison-bound 1st Division has been cut since April. A few miles south of the ruined city of Nnewi, the much-touted Nigerian drive there has degenerated into nearly static trench warfare.

Although Biafra's leader, Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu, can have little short-term hope of recapturing any of the 25,000 of the original 29,000 square miles lost since the fighting started July 6, 1967, he and his troops have shown that they can and will defend their last stronghold.

Seemed Willing
Until late September both their will and their capability had been in doubt. They had seemed to be willing before an onslaught of noise — the boom of British-built howitzers and the rush of armored cars.

They deserted their regional capital at Enugu in October, 1967, as federal troops also completed routing them from the Mid-West Region. Port Harcourt and its vital airport fell last May without significant resistance. The administrative center at Aba, also undefended, fell in September.

Now the nature of the fighting has changed, and so has the mood of Nigeria. In his broadcast at the start of 1968, the federal supreme commander, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, told his countrymen, "Let us put our shoulders to the wheel and finish this by March 31."

Target, Not Deadline
His commissioner for information, Chief Anthony Enahoro, promptly called in newsmen to assure them that the date was a target, not a deadline. "The sky will not fall" if the war does not end by then, Enahoro said.

The sky has not fallen in the succeeding year, but in his 1969 speech, the 35-year-old Gowon struck a more somber note. Forecasting "an all-out struggle" and "a fight to the finish," he said he "may have to call on the people of this country for more sacrifices."

Seeking to quiet fears expressed here in the capital, where relaxed and apathetic citizens have not let the war interfere much with the pursuit of pleasure, Enahoro may have misjudged the hawkish impatience of other parts of the nation, the most populous — more than 62 million people — and once the most admired in black Africa.

Writing to The Nigerian Observer from the Mid-Western town of Auchi, A. A. Kadiri declared:

"I see no reason why the war should linger on for such a long time. The youths are ready to enlist themselves into the army and, armed to the teeth like the desert locust, destined to overcome every living fruit in the region. I quite believe that when the youths are allowed to exercise their willingness, Ojukwu's dreamed Biafra would vanish immediately."

Calling on the government "to end this war quick," the Nigerian Tribune, published in Ibadan, where it still speaks for the banned Action Group party and its powerful Yoruba leader, Chief Obafemi Awolowo, the finance commissioner, said a final offensive would be very welcome.

Cynicism has been increased by widespread profiteering by the army officers who, with promises to put an end to civilian corruption, took control in two military coups d'etat in 1966. In army-controlled Port Harcourt, where a 100-pound sack of flour that sells for $4.20 in Lagos brings three times that price, civilians attribute the disparity to military middlemen.

Currency Smuggled
While the 3rd Division ran Calabar, illegal old currency was smuggled into the southeastern port at an enormous rate. Central bank officials, attempting to convert the area to new currency, found more than twice as much money in circulation as the prewar average of $15 million.

They froze all bank accounts in Calabar last Sept. 17 and, having brought economic activity to a near-standstill, have just begun investigating the source of all deposits before reopening accounts.

Among the tempting opportunities for corruption are inflated divisional payrolls, as well as army procurement, often hasty and without central control.

Disturb Widspread
Many army leaders are aware of widespread distrust and are anxious to clean house. Until the fighting ends, however, Gowon is powerless to tamper with the command structure or army morale.

Moreover, each division commander is a minor warlord in charge of his own recruiting and provisioning as well as a major force in civil administration in his own "liberated" area.

Paving Notices Review Set By City Equalization Board

The City Council, sitting as the Board of Equalization, agreed to review the city's practice of informing residents about streets being paved in a special assessment paving district.

The Equalization Board held its first meeting Tuesday to consider protests on special assessments in paving, alley paving, sewer, ornamental lighting and water districts.

Two residents in Paving District No. 2053 — Burnham between 14th and 17th — objected to being assessed for the costs of paving Burnham

St. and said they had not been notified of the paving until receiving their special assessment letters two weeks ago.

Normal Course

Councilwoman Helen Boosalis told the residents that it has been normal procedure not to notify residents unless their property abuts the road being paved.

A petition signed by 51% of property owners along the road is required to create a paving district.

Property owners halfway back to the next intersection are also assessed.

Owners of such property do not receive notification on the paving district creation, although a sign is put up to identify the area.

'Surprise' Criticized

J. W. Bauers, 3815 St. Mary's, who said he had not seen the sign because he did not travel on the road, objected to getting "surprise letters" on special assessments.

"I like to save to pay for things like this," Bauers said.

Mrs. Boosalis said maybe putting up signs elsewhere to identify the paving district might solve the problem.

William and Arlie Clark, both of 3176 No. 40th, told council members they objected to being assessed for a water main they said was installed to service the Sanitary Linen and Uniform Rental.

Business Benefited

William Clark said he was against paying for benefits to the business.

He claimed his five vacant lots assessed at $1,276 were not benefited since there is no buildings on them.

Bill Davidson, chairman of the Equalization Board, said the lots would be benefited since the property values would increase.

Cost Objected To

Mrs. C. W. McBride, 2504 No. Cotner, objected to paying more for paving than the estimate.

Mrs. McBride said the storm sewer did not take care of heavy rainfalls.

"My back yard looks like the Mississippi River after a rainfall," she said.

Ervin Peterson said every citizen paying for paving has "received a severe jolt, including myself," because of rising costs. He said the storm sewers were not designed to handle heavy rainfalls.

Attorney Appears

Attorney Mark Buchholz appeared before the board representing Mrs. Helen Loy, 2315 F St., who objected to a water district assessment.

Buchholz said Mrs. Loy's property has been satisfactorily connected to a pre-existing water main for the past 14 years.

"The proposed main will confer no material benefit to her property," he said.

The board agreed to hear objections by the Burlington Railroad on paving and water districts in the Havelock area at a special meeting Feb. 17 at 10 a.m.

Insurance Leader Proposes 'Safety Village' For Children

A visit to "Safety Village U.S.A." in Tampa, Fla., has convinced the president of the Lincoln Association of Independent Insurance Agents that a similar child-size city is just the thing for Lincoln.

Bob Sherwood was accompanied by Jim Ager, director of the Lincoln Parks and Recreation Department, and Eldon Heskett, director of Lincoln Public School Services, on his visit last month to the village in Tampa's Lowry Park.

Sherwood reported to association members Tuesday that he was very impressed with the project, which is used to teach primary grade children good safety habits.

Detailed Replica

The miniature town incorporates all the features and traffic hazards of a grown-up community, including scaled-down buildings, roads, lamp posts, signs, mail boxes, fireplugs and park benches.

About 25 buildings have been constructed as exact small-size duplicates of important city buildings, including a six-foot high city hall, fire station, civic center, church, office building, service station, school, hospital, bank, courthouse, railroad station and private homes.

The entire one and one-half acre village is thoroughly landscaped and pre-school and primary grade children are able to drive electric-powered and pedal cars through the streets and along a model Interstate Highway which cuts through the village.

Sherwood said that about 14,000 children have attended safety classes conducted by policemen, firemen and a fulltime instructor at the village.

"Such training is most effective when children are young and receptive to new ideas," he noted.

Lincoln Area

He mentioned that a three-acre plot of ground in southeast Lincoln might be available for a site.

The cost of the project is as yet indefinite and Sherwood said the Tampa project was financed by insurance agencies, and other companies and individuals.

He told association members that they would have to be willing to donate a sizeable sum to the project if it is approved and begun.

"This project fits our association like a glove," he said.

Sioux Is Named To Indian Bureau

By The Associated Press

A Sioux Indian has been named assistant commissioner for engineering of the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Indian Affairs Commissioner Robert L. Bennett announced the appointment Tuesday of Arthur O. Allen, who was born at Martin, S.D., and is a member of the Oglala Sioux Tribe.

Allen, formerly a general engineer in the bureau, succeeds Fred M. Haverland who retired Jan. 11.

A message to those Americans who don't happen to think the land of milk and honey is going all sour.

Our country is in a strange mood these days.

Uncertainty surrounds us.

So what can you do about it?

Well, first of all, maybe you should take a long, hard look at this country of ours. Maybe we should look at our healthy side as well as our ills.

And maybe, just maybe, you'll find we're not all that bad.

Sure we have our problems. And they're not going to go away if you just stand along the sidelines as a spectator.

But they might start to go away if you seriously want to do something for your country.

A U.S. Savings Bond is one way. Let's say you fork over $18.75 of your hard-earned cash. Through a Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or at your bank. That will give you a Bond that's worth $25.00 in just 7 years. If you did that every month you'd stash away quite a nest egg for yourself.

And so would your country.

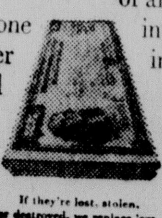

Your country would be economically stronger to find remedies for some of the headaches we have. While it's preserving something called freedom.

Something that's hard to appreciate. Until you lose it.

Savings Bonds now have a new high interest rate of 4 1/4%. And buying them gives you the privilege of also buying the even higher interest 5% Freedom Shares in combination.

However you look at it, it simply makes a lot of sense to invest in your country.

After all, it's the only country you've got.

If they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace 'em.
